The Return of the Dove. Only a waste of waters, Only a tideless sea, Which is not life, which is not death, But death in life to me. Only the years on-coming Rolling their silent waves Over the bygone trouble, Over Life's hidden graves. Only a drear out-looking For a hope that is long delayed, And a wish that may not be prayed. Why am I ever watching? What can I ever see?— Only a dove that is coming From a far-off land to me. Only a branch it is bringing. Which tells of a clearer day, And bears me a promise of peace and life, When the waters have passed away.

I most cheeriolly state that the Fluid was furnished to, and extensively used by, the surveons in charge of general hospitals in the Confederate service with great benefit to the patients—all the surgeous making a favorable report—a great deal of it was used in the hospitals.

Dear Light. Dear Sir—traving not been engaged for many years in the active duties of the Medical profession. I am only superficially acquainted with the claims of your Prophylactic Fluid, but am well acquainted with its chemical elements.

While, therefore, I cannot speak experimentally of the value of the compound yet the disinfecting and therapeutic properties of the sgents emisoyed in its composition, together with the well known reputation of its discoverer, as a chemist, authorize me to regard its merit as of a high order; on the whole it must be considered as a valuable contribution to the class of articles to which it belongs.

These views, I may add, are sustained by the testimony of many competent judges, who have tested its properties.

Believe me, dear sir.

Yours, respectfully,

DEVER AND AGUE,

FROM WHICH MANKIND SUFFER over a large part of the globe, is the consequence of a diseased action in the system, induced by the poison of solar heat on wet soil, and rises with the watery vapor from it.—

While the sun is below the horizon this vapor lingers near the earth's surface, and the virus is taken with through the lungs into the blood. There it acts as an irritating poison on the internal viscers and excreting organs of the body. The liver becomes torpid and fails to secrets not only this vrius but also the labe from the blood. Both the virus and the bife accumulate in the circulation, and produce vice int constitutions disorder. The spleen the kidneys, and the stomach sympathize with the liv r, and become disordered also. Finally, the instinct of our organism, as 1 in an attempt to excel the noxious infusion, concentrates the whole blood of the body in the internal excretories to force them to cast it out. The blood leaves the surface, and rushes to the central organs with songestive violence. This is the Chill. But in this congestive violence. This is the Chill. But in this congestive violence. This is the Chill. But in this congestive violence. This is the Chill. But in this congestive violence. The system at and vis the surface, as it in another effort to expel the irritating potent in the central organs and rashes to the surface, as it in another effort to expel the irritating potent in the central organs and rashes to the surface, and that other great excretory—the skin. In this also it fails, and the system at and vis the aftempt exhausted, and we take for another day. These are the fits of paroxyems of Fever and Ague. Such constitutional disorder will of course undermine the health if it is not removed.

We have labored to find, and have found an anti-dote, which neutralizes this malarious poison in the blood, an stimulates the liver to expel it from the blood, as it should, to it does cure this efficting disorder with perfect certainty. And it does mo e or rather does what is of mere service to those mo e or rather does what is of mere service to those subject to this infection. If taken in scason it exicus it from the system as it is abscored, and thus keeps those who use it free rom its attacks; keeps the system in health although exposed to the cleease. Consequently it not only fuses, but protects from, the great variety of affection is which are induced by this malignant influence, such as Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb, or Mesked Ague, Pariodical Headache, or Bilious Headache. Bilious Fevers, reunalsis, Rhounsatism Gout, Bilious Fevers, reunalsis, Catarrh. Asthma, Palpitations Pannful affections of the Stomach and Dowels, all of which, whou arising irum this cause, will be found to assume, more or less, the intermittent type. This "AGUL tuke" removes the cause of these derangoments and cures the disease.

This it accomplishes by stimulating the excretories to expel the virus from the system; so these organs by degrees become habited to do this, their effice, of their own accord. Hence ansee what we term sectimatation. Time may accomplish the same end, but often lefe's not long enough, or is sacrificed in the attempt, while the 'Ague Cure" does it stooned, and with safety We have geat re son to believe this is a surer as well as after femedy for the whole class of diseases which are caused by the milesematic injectics, that it is cheep as well as good.
